VS.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 6:13-2196

SECTION P

JUDGE HAIK

TIFFANY MICHELLE LEJUENE

MAGISTRATE JUDGE HILL

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

Pro se plaintiff Brandon Scott Lavergne ("Lavergne"), proceeding in forma pauperis, filed the instant civil rights complaint pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983 on July 1, 2013. Lavergne is an inmate in the custody of the Louisiana Department of Public Safety and Corrections. He is incarcerated at the Louisiana State Penitentiary in Angola, Louisiana where he is serving two life sentences imposed by the Louisiana Fifteenth Judicial District Court for Lafayette Parish following his August 17, 2012 convictions for the murder of Michaela Shunick ("Shunick") and Lisa Pate ("Pate"). Lavergne names his cousin Tiffany Michelle Lejuene ("Lejuene") of Duson, Louisiana as the sole defendant.

Lavergne alleges that Lejuene made false statements to police in July 2012 after his arrest for the Shunick murder. At that time, Lejuene allegedly told police that Lavergne tried to put his hand up her shirt in 2010 when they were sharing a hotel room, that Lavergne had a five day relationship with Lejuene's friend that ended because Lavergne was "aggressive" and that the women in the family didn't want to be around Lavergne because of his aggressive behavior. Lavergne alleges that Lejuene has made many false police reports in the past, but that these particular statements are more egregious because they "were going to be used against [Lavergne] in a capitol murder case and could have possibly been used in grand jury proceedings on 18 July 2012."

These statements are alleged to constitute libel and slander which were made in violation of Lavergne's constitutional rights. By this action, Lavergne seeks punitive damages.

This matter has been referred to the undersigned for review, report and recommendation in accordance with the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636 and the standing orders of the Court.

LAW AND ANALYSIS

On August 17, 2012, Lavergne pled guilty to two counts of first degree murder for the murders of Shunick and Pate, with the stipulation that he be sentenced to life imprisonment on each count. In accordance with the plea agreement, Lavergne was sentenced by Judge Clause that date to life imprisonment on each count. Lavergne did not directly appeal his convictions or sentences. Post-Conviction relief has not been granted.¹ Moreover, neither this or any other federal court has issued a writ of habeas corpus.

I. Screening

When a prisoner files suit in forma pauperis pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983, the court is obligated to evaluate the complaint and dismiss it without service of process, if the complaint is frivolous, malicious, fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, or seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2). Ali v. Higgs, 892 F.2d 438, 440 (5th Cir. 1990).

A claim is frivolous if it lacks an arguable basis in law or in fact. Gonzalez v. Wyatt, 157 F.3d 1016, 1019 (5th Cir. 1998) citing Siglar v. Hightower, 112 F.3d 191, 193 (5th Cir. 1997). A complaint is subject to dismissal for failure to state a claim if the allegations, taken as true, show the plaintiff is not entitled to relief. Jones v. Bock, 549 U.S. 199, 215 (2007); See also Bradley v. Puckett, 157 F.3d 1022, 1025 (5th Cir. 1998). The plaintiff must state “enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Green v. Revel, 2011 WL 165453, *1 (5th Cir. 2011) citing In re Katrina Canal Breaches Litig., 495 F.3d 191, 205 (5th Cir. 2007); Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007).

In his Complaint, Lavergne has set forth specific facts which he claims entitles him to damages and he has pleaded his best case. The facts alleged by Lavergne have been accepted as true for the purposes of this Report. Nevertheless, Lavergne’s damage claims are subject to dismissal for the reasons which follow.

II. Non-State Actor

To prevail on a civil rights claim under § 1983, a plaintiff must prove that he was deprived of a right, privilege, or immunity secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States by a person acting under the color of law. 42 U.S.C. § 1983; Robertson v.

Plano City of Texas, 70 F.3d 21, 23 (5th Cir. 1995) citing Evans v. City of Marlin, Tex., 986 F.2d 104, 107 (5th Cir. 1993); Banuelos v. McFarland, 41 F.3d 232, 234 (5th Cir. 1995). Under the “color of law” requirement, the defendants in a § 1983 action must have committed the complained-of acts in the course of their performance of duties and have misused power that they possessed by virtue of state law and made possible only because the wrongdoer is clothed with the authority of state law. United States v. Classic, 313 U.S. 299, 325 (1941); Screws v. United States, 325 U.S. 91, 110 (1944) (plurality opinion).

It is clear that Lejuene, Lavergne's cousin, is not a state actor as required for liability under § 1983. To the contrary, Lejuene is merely a private citizen who was in no way clothed with the authority of state law. Rather, Lejuene merely told police about Lavergne's past history of sexually aggressive behavior, which, even if false, is clearly insufficient to deem Lejuene a state actor subject to § 1983 liability. See Hammond v. Wilson, 2009 WL 467648, *2 (S.D. Ohio 2009) (a private citizen, who gave a statement to the police during a criminal investigation, was not subject to a § 1983 suit); Vasquez v. Rubalcava, 2012 WL 760860, *5 (C.D. Cal. 2012) (a witness not acting under color of state law when she reported what she believed was a crime, and was therefore not subject to § 1983 liability) citing Goehring v. Wright, 858 F.Supp. 989, 998 (N.D. Cal. 1994) (private citizens who complained to local authorities about neighbor's alleged criminal activities, giving rise to neighbor's arrest and prosecution, were not “state actors” for purposes of § 1983); Griffin v. Walgreen, Co., 2010 WL 4975532, *8-9 (E.D. Mo. 2010) citing Hammond, 2009 WL 467648, at *2 (a private citizen who gave a statement to the police during a criminal investigation was not subject to a § 1983 suit) and Marion v. Groh, 954 F.Supp. 39, 42–43 (D. Conn. 1997) (holding that even if the witness' statement to police was false, the witness did not act under color of law for § 1983 liability); DiNicola v. DiPaolo, 25 F.Supp.2d 630, 669-670 (W.D. Pa. 1998) (a witness did not act under color of state law in providing out-of-court statements against the plaintiff); Paulino v. Banguera, 2011 WL 1831759, *6 (D.N.J. 2011) (dismissing a § 1983 claim for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted against witnesses who accused the plaintiff of criminal activity and gave statements to the police which were allegedly untrue, because the witnesses were not state actors).

Further, there is no factual basis to support any claim of a conspiracy between Lejuene and any alleged state actor to support a claim of state action. See Id.. See also Marts v. Hines, 68 F.3d 134, 136 (5th Cir. 1995) citing McAfee v. 5th Circuit Judges, 884 F.2d 221, 222 (5th Cir. 1989), cert. denied, 493 U.S. 1083, 110 S.Ct. 1141, 107 L.Ed.2d 1046 (1990) (“‘mere conclusory allegations of conspiracy cannot, absent reference to material facts,’ state a substantial claim of federal conspiracy.”); Mills v. Criminal District #3, 837 F.2d 677, 679-680 (5th Cir. 1988); see also Babb v. Dorman, 33 F.3d 472, 476 (5th Cir. 1994) citing Lynch v. Cannatella, 810 F.2d 1363, 1369-70 (5th Cir. 1987) (finding that bald, conclusory allegations that a conspiracy exists are insufficient to state a conspiracy claim); Young v. Biggers, 938 F.2d 565, 569 (5th Cir. 1991); Rodriguez v.

Neeley, 169 F.3d 220, 222 (5th Cir. 1999) citing McAfee, supra. Plaintiff's civil rights claims against Lejuene should therefore be dismissed for failure to state claims upon which relief may be granted pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii).²

III. Heck v. Humphrey

Lavergne also seeks monetary damages from Lejuene for alleged false statements in connection with the 2012 murder investigation of both Shunick and Pate, which resulted in Lavergne's conviction for the murder of Shunick and Pate, for which Lavergne is serving two life sentences imposed by the Louisiana Fifteenth Judicial District Court for Lafayette Parish. These claims are barred by the principles set forth by the United States Supreme Court in Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477, 486-87, 114 S.Ct. 2364, 129 L.Ed.2d 383 (1994).³

It is well established that to recover damages for an allegedly “unconstitutional conviction or imprisonment, or for other harm caused by actions whose unlawfulness would render a conviction or sentence invalid, a § 1983 plaintiff must prove that the conviction or sentence has been reversed on direct appeal, expunged by executive order, ²Moreover, to the extent that Lavergne complains that Lejuene may have testified falsely before the grand jury in 2012, Lejuene is absolutely immune from suit. Rehberg v. Paulk, - - U.S. - - , 132 S.Ct. 1497 (2012).

declared invalid by a state tribunal authorized to make such determinations, or called into question by a federal court's issuance of a writ of habeas corpus [under] 28 U.S.C. § 2254.” Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477, 486-87, 114 S.Ct. 2364, 129 L.Ed.2d 383 (1994). A claim for damages bearing that relationship to a conviction or sentence that has not been so invalidated is not cognizable under § 1983. Heck, 512 U.S. at 487, 114 S.Ct. at 2372. The Supreme Court imposed this requirement on § 1983 plaintiffs in order to avoid collateral attacks by plaintiffs on convictions against them that are “still outstanding.” Id. at 486, 114 S.Ct. at 2371. Moreover, if judgment in favor of a civil rights plaintiff would “necessarily imply the invalidity of his conviction or sentence,” then the complaint must be dismissed unless the plaintiff demonstrates that the conviction or sentence has already been invalidated. Id.

Lavergne's claims concerning alleged false statements connected with the 2012 murder investigation which resulted in Lavergne's guilty plea in the murder prosecution for the deaths of both Shunick and Pate would, if true, necessarily implicate the validity of his state court criminal proceeding and the convictions and sentences imposed therein. Lavergne does not contend that his murder convictions or his life sentences have been reversed, expunged, or declared invalid. To the contrary, Lavergne admits that he is currently serving his sentences for these convictions. Moreover, there is no jurisprudence establishing that these convictions have been reversed, expunged, or declared invalid. Furthermore, no federal court has issued a writ of habeas corpus.

While Lavergne argues that his murder convictions and resulting sentences are invalid and unconstitutional based, in part, on the alleged falsities, Lavergne stands convicted, and his convictions rely, in part, upon the seized evidence and the truth of the alleged false statements of the defendant. Thus, it is clear that if this court were to grant Lavergne the damages he seeks, that ruling would necessarily implicate the validity of Lavergne's convictions and sentences. Accordingly, Lavergne's claims, which are directed at the validity of his 2012 criminal prosecution and resulting convictions and sentences, are barred by Heck. The claims are not cognizable under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 at this time. These claims must therefore be dismissed with prejudice for failure to state cognizable claims. See Johnson v. McElveen, 101 F.3d 423, 424 (5th Cir. 1996).

IV. State Law Claims

To the extent that Lavergne asserts claims under Louisiana State law, this Court should decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c)(3).⁴

A district court may decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction if the court has dismissed all claims over which it had original jurisdiction. 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c)(3); Nowell v. Acadian Ambulance Service, 147 F.Supp.2d 495, 510 (W.D. La. 2001). Indeed, ⁴This Court cannot exercise diversity jurisdiction, over any claims asserted by Lavergne under Louisiana State law because complete diversity is lacking. For exercise of this Court's diversity jurisdiction, it is axiomatic that complete diversity is required. Thus, the presence in the action of a single plaintiff from the same State as a single defendant deprives the district court of original diversity jurisdiction over the entire action. Exxon v. Allapattah, 545 U.S. 546, 553, 125 S.Ct. 2611, 2617 (2005) citing Strawbridge v. Curtiss, 3 Cranch 267, 2 L.Ed. 435 (1806) and Owen Equipment & Erection Co. v. Kroger, 437 U.S. 365, 375, 98 S.Ct. 2396, 57 L.Ed.2d 274 (1978). In sum "[i]ncomplete diversity destroys original jurisdiction with respect to all claims" in the action. Id. at 2618. Here, both Lavergne and Lejuene are Louisiana citizens. Accordingly, complete diversity is lacking.

when a court dismisses all federal claims before trial, the general rule is to dismiss any pendent claims. Id., citing Bass v. Packwood Hospital, 180 F.3d 234, 246 (5th Cir. 1999) citing Wong v. Stripling, 881 F.2d 200, 204 (5th Cir. 1989). However, the dismissal should be without prejudice. Id.

In light of the above, all federal claims asserted against the defendant will be dismissed. Accordingly, no federal question will remain before this court. Accordingly, the undersigned recommends that this Court decline supplemental jurisdiction over any state law claims asserted by Lavergne, dismissing those claims without prejudice.

For the reason set forth above;

IT IS RECOMMENDED that Lavergne's civil rights claims against Tiffany Michelle Lejuene be DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii) for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

Alternatively, IT IS FURTHER RECOMMENDED that Lavergne's civil rights claims against Tiffany Michelle Lejuene for alleged false statements connected with the 2012 murder investigation of both Shunick and Pate, resulting in Lavergne's guilty plea in his state criminal murder proceeding be DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE subject to reassertion if the requirements of Heck v. Humphrey are met.

IT IS FURTHER RECOMMENDED that Lavergne's claims under Louisiana State law be DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE.

Under the provisions of 28 U.S.C. Section 636(b)(1)(C) and Rule 72(b), parties aggrieved by this recommendation have fourteen (14) days from service of this report and recommendation to file specific, written objections with the Clerk of Court. A party may respond to another party's objections within fourteen (14) days after being served with a copy of any objections or response to the district judge at the time of filing.

Failure to file written objections to the proposed factual findings and/or the proposed legal conclusions reflected in this Report and Recommendation within fourteen (14) days following the date of its service, or within the time frame authorized by Fed.R.Civ.P. 6(b), shall bar an aggrieved party from attacking either the factual findings or the legal conclusions accepted by the District Court, except upon grounds of plain error. See Douglass v. United Services Automobile Association, 79 F.3d 1415 (5th Cir. 1996).
